

EADV Fostering Course

Clinical Research & Epidemiology

24-28 June 2019 in Rotterdam, The Netherlands
(Erasmus MC University Hospital)

Course chairs: Prof.dr. Tamar Nijsten
Dr. Loes Hollestein

Application deadline: unknown yet (spring 2019)
Number of places: 30
Course Language: English

Picture: O. van Duivenbode

Target audience:

Dermatologists/Residents who have an interest in pursuing research but have not yet undertaken a substantive block of research time

Outline of the course

The course covers:

- General issues in setting up RCTs and observational studies
- Performing critical appraisal topics (CAT)
- Practicals of data-management and analysis using SPSS
- Journal club
- State of the art lectures on large datasets in (pharmaco)epidemiology, genetic epidemiology and microbiome.

Selected applicants receive:

(*text between brackets applies to residents only)

- A (free of charge) course with hands-on experience in research techniques, seminars/lecture and an opportunity to present at a Journal club or research seminar.
- Educational material, certificate of attendance, (free accommodation), catering and a social event during the course.
- EADV resident members are eligible to apply for an educational grant.

Further information & application form available online at www.eadv.org -> Education.
In case of questions, please contact fostering@eadv.org or phone to 0032 265 000 90.